Players Go Back Quickly.

Once a ball player gets on the downward path he travels fast. The career of Tim Flood well illustrates this philosophy. Tim came forward three years ago with lots of noise, and when he was appointed manager of the Saints the next year he had reached the pinnacle of his baseball fame, for to be manager of the A. A. is a more important position than that of an ordinary warrior in the majors. Tim's managerial career was bitterly disappointing, and he not only lost that job, but also his second base position with the Saints. Last spring he was sent to Little Rock and was then transferred to Chattanooga when the franchise was purchased. Now comes the information that Chattanooga does not want him and that he will play this year with the Waterbury club of the Connecticut league. That'll just about wind Tim up.

SEIZES HER GEMS

All of Mrs. Adriance's Jewels Held by Collector.

HAS MUCH MORE TO EXPLAIN.

Following Charge of Smuggling, the Wealthy Poughkeepsie Society Woman Must Tell Where She Bought $100,000 Worth of Ornaments.

New York, Aug. 30.—Jewels said to be worth $100,000, belonging to Mrs. Ada F. C. Adriance, society leader of Poughkeepsie, and wife of L. Reynolds Adriance, millionaire mowing machine maker of that city, have been seized by Collector Loeb.

Mrs. Adriance was held to $7,500 bail for her appearance before the federal grand jury on the specific charge of smuggling into the United States $8,000 in pearls, lace and jewelry, seized under spectacular circumstances upon the arrival of the White Star liner Baltic here Sunday.

At the same time there passed into the possession of customs officers the other gems said to total $100,000 in value, regarding which Mrs. Adriance must make a satisfactory statement at a hearing Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. These gems were first taken as security for Mrs. Adriance's appearance before Commissioner Alexander, her detention having taken place on Sunday afternoon when it was not possible for her to obtain bail.

Collector William Loeb, Jr., viewed this "forfeit" and ordered its seizure until the time and place of the purchases should be established and evidence given that all duties that could be assessed legally had been paid. All this jewelry was in Mrs. Adriance's possession when she went aboard seven months ago to join her daughter Marion, a student in Rome. Some of the jewelry, it is known, was bought in New York, but more of it was purchased abroad. It is said, and Loeb will require proof that it did not come into the country as did the necklace seized on Sunday.

In the event of conviction, Mrs. Adriance on the charges so far advanced will be liable to a penalty of more than $20,000, beside the fine that may be fixed by the court. The law provides that smuggled jewelry shall be forfeited, the duty at the rate of 60 per cent shall be paid and a specific penalty of 50 per cent shall be assessed. On the necklace, which is valued at $6,000, forfeiture, duty and penalty would aggregate $12,600. On the gold and silver mesh bags seized at the same time and which are valued at $400, forfeiture, duty and penalty would aggregate $840. On the lace, which is valued at $5,000, forfeiture, duty and penalty would reach $9,500, a total of $22,940.

No case in the long list of sensational developments since Mr. Loeb took charge of the port of New York has created such a stir in official circles as this.

Among officials there was lively speculation about the source of the information upon which Special Agent Wall based his insistence that Mrs. Adriance prove that she had nothing in her possession except what she had declared.

"Nobody shall know," he said. "This source of information is my stock in trade. If I divulged it I would sacrifice what value I have to the government. My wife wanted to know this morning, but she didn't find out."

It became known, however, that Wall's information regarding Mrs. Adriance came from the same persons who had put him on his guard against former Governor Rollins of New Hampshire, who was arrested on a charge of smuggling a short time ago.

$100,000,000 BABY SAILS.

Vinson McLean Boards Liner Today in His Steel Guarded Carriage.

New York, Aug. 30.—Vinson Walsh McLean, heir to the McLean millions and known as the "hundred-million-dollar baby," sailed with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beale McLean, for Europe today on board the North German Lloyd steamship Kronprinz Wilhelm.

With him were his nurse and the five guards, armed with revolvers, who have stood watch over him ever since a kidnaper entered his nursery.

Fearing that another attempt may be made to spirit away the million-dollar heir, Mr. McLean ordered the baby's steel cage perambulator to be prepared, and in this fortress on wheels Vinson was taken aboard.

Applius Claudius.

Applius Claudius, surnamed Caecus (the blind), was a Roman statesman who lived during the third century before the Christian era. He was a Roman censor, 312 to 308, and consul, 307 to 296. He commenced the Applan way and completed the Applan aqueduct. From his Roman jurisprudence, oratory, grammar and Latin prose date their beginning. He abolished the limitation of the full right of citizenship to landed proprietors.

In his old age he is said to have become blind, whence his cognomen "Caecus." He was the author of works in both prose and verse, of which almost nothing is known.

REFORMERS REFUSE TO SUPPORT BERRY

Leading Men in William Penn Party For Republican State Ticket.

(Special Correspondence.)

Philadelphia, Aug. 30.

The most significant and important development of the state campaign thus far is found in the refusal of prominent and potential men in the William Penn party in this city to support the Berry-Casey Democratic combination on the Keystone Party ticket.

The fact that thousands of voters who have been allied with reform movements intend to support the full Republican state ticket, including the nominees for congress, has necessitated the withdrawal of the William Penn Party from the field, and the men who are behind the Berry candidacy are now seeking to marshal their Palastafian outfit under the banner of the hybrid Keystone Party.

At a meeting of the city committee of the William Penn Party a few nights ago, when that organization went out of business for this campaign, members of the committee very frankly admitted that a large percentage of the citizens who have been voting the Penn ticket are Republicans in national and state affairs, while voting independently in municipal contests. It was acknowledged that they intend to support John K. Tener and all of his colleagues on the Republican state ticket, and leading reformers of the type of Theodore Justice, John C. Winston and others who have been among the heaviest contributors to local independent movements are out in public declarations of their purpose to stand by the Republican state nominees.

Cannot Stand a Bryanite.

Not only will Mr. Tener and his associates receive the support of this element, but they will also have the votes of thousands of Philadelphia independents who might under certain conditions back an independent Republican for governor, but who under no circumstances would support a radical Bryanite Democrat like Berry.

The loss of these two elements of the reform forces has completely demoralized the soldiers of fortune who are behind the Berry movement, following the attacks of Democratic politicians upon whom they confidently counted to stand by Berry.

The aggressive campaign waged for Senator Grim, the Democratic nominee for governor, has resulted in a lining up of the Democratic workers in the regular Democratic organization. Democratic leaders who were expected to be for Berry have come out for Grim, in order to retain their standing with the Democracy. Where they have failed to do so they have been asked to resign or been expelled from Democratic committees.

Eugene C. Bonniwell, Berry's campaign manager, threatened with expulsion, has resigned from the chairmanship of the Delaware county Democratic committee.

While the Berry Democrats and the Grim Democrats are fighting among themselves reports from all over the state indicate harmony among the Republicans. Chairman Henry F. Walton and Secretary W. Harry Baker, of the Republican state committee, have the preliminary work up to date and have their plans matured for an aggressive campaign.

Gubernatorial Candidate Tener and his colleagues Messrs. Reynolds, Wright and Houck, will address a meeting at Charleroi on Saturday, Sept. 3, when Mr. Tener's neighbors propose to make a great demonstration in his honor.

They will be in Pittsburg on Labor Day, Sept. 5; in Philadelphia, Sept. 10; at the State League of Republican clubs, Pottsville, Sept. 15, and in Lehigh county on Sept. 17.

BANK IS SHORT $300,000.

Hundreds of Biddeford Depositors Are Mill Operatives.

Biddeford, Me., Aug. 30.—State Bank Examiner W. B. Skelton's statement that the shortage of the York County Savings bank, whose doors were closed Aug. 12, would be between $300,000 and $350,000, has caused a stir here. The loss was estimated at $100,000.

Hundreds of the 3,800 depositors are mill operatives whose savings of a life time were in the bank. The falsifying of the accounts has been going on for the last thirty years of the fifty years that Richard H. Ingersoll was treasurer. Ingersoll is still critically ill.

FIGHT FOR LA FOLLETTE.

Senators Cummins and Dooliver Aid Wisconsin Insurgents.

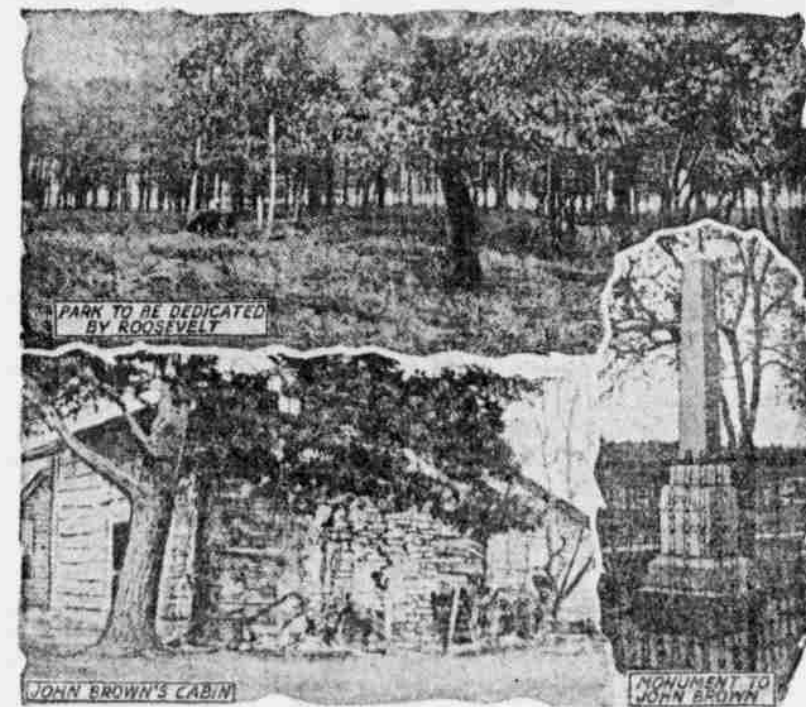

La Follette, Wis., Aug. 31.—As Senator La Follette, arch insurgent, is too ill to take an active part in the Wisconsin fight, Senators Cummins and Dooliver of Iowa have taken up the cudgel for him.

Senator Cummins devoted the greater part of the first of three speeches in this state in behalf of Senator La Follette to the Payne-Aldrich tariff act.

He promised that the tariff should be revised again soon by a progressive Republican congress and declared that insurgency was sweeping the country like a tidal wave.

John Brown's Memory Is Honored by Kansas Women

The women of Osawatomie, Kan., purchased the ground where the famed battle bearing the name of their town was fought fifty-four years ago under the leadership of John Brown and presented it to the public. On the battlefield stands the monument erected to the memory of the champion of the slaves, and near by is the cabin where Brown resided at the time of the battle. Vice President Fairbanks dedicated the monument four years ago, and former President Roosevelt was selected to make the dedicatory speech for the park on Aug. 31 of this year.
